

Special Needs Planning: Complex Problems, Simple Solutions

1 in 4 families cope with having a loved one that has been diagnosed with mental illness/special needs.*

Please join us to learn more about:

- Critically important issues regarding special needs planning
- The difference between emotions-based decisions and values-based decisions and how they impact your financial future
- Strategies to obtain and maintain eligibility for important government benefits
- Case studies that show how real families integrate their legal and financial needs
