

Recovery Services

Overview:

Advocates promotes a healthy work-life balance and offers many generous perks of employment and room for advancement. We are a strong-knit community that values the ideas and contributions of our staff.

Under licensed supervision (LICSW), interns would have the opportunity to integrate academic learning and theory (i.e., psychodynamic, biopsychosocial, person in environment theories/models, etc.) with clinical work to help people in the program build skills around dual recovery and independent living.

Are you ready to make a difference?

Responsibilities:

Interns from a program with a specific focus area could integrate that background with the work under supervision. After acclimating to the program, interns' work could include:

- Clinical formulation review and assessment
- Interventions (recovery or psychoeducation groups, 1:1 work)
- Staff training and development
- Administrative analysis (budget, staffing, program policy)
- Case presentation and participation in DMH and cluster meetings
- Crisis management
- Stakeholder engagement

Advocates is committed to cultivating a diverse and welcoming community where everyone feels respected and valued. Advocates fosters a culture of inclusion that celebrates and promotes diversity along multiple dimensions, including race, ethnicity, sex, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, national origin, socioeconomic status, religion, ability, culture, and experience.

Why Should I Consider a Career in Human Services?

Our Team members are dedicated to engaging and empowering individuals by forming lasting relationships, collaboratively achieving personal goals, offering creative solutions to everyday and complex situations, and actively listening. We exercise independent judgement and contribute to the overall success and benefit of the Team.

Is Human Services a Fit for Me?

Successful Team members are open-minded, eager and compassionate, and will exercise solid, independent judgement while fostering trustworthy relationships with the individuals that we serve. We put the individual first.
